Variation on the Commission’s own motion – method of adjusting wage-related allowances

(AM2023/3)

ACTING PRESIDENT HATCHER
VICE PRESIDENT CATANZARITI
COMMISSIONER SPENCER

MELBOURNE, 13 FEBRUARY 2023

Section 160 of the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth) – proposed variation on Commission’s own motion to remove error or uncertainty – Australian Capital Territory Public Sector Enterprise Award 2016 – State reference public sector and enterprise awards – provisional views – method of adjusting wage-related allowances.

[1] On 14 October 2022, the Commission issued a statement¹ setting out a draft timetable for the Annual Wage Review 2022-23 (October Statement) which foreshadowed the issuing of a further statement to deal with issues concerning an allowance in the Australian Capital Territory Public Sector Enterprise Award 2016 (ACTPSE Award)² in addition to certain other wage-related allowances in some modern enterprise and State reference public sector awards.³ The issues to which the October Statement referred concerned an error or uncertainty in the method of adjusting the various wage-related allowances.

[2] Since the issuing of the October Statement, a further potential error has been identified in the standard approach to describing the adjustment of wage-related allowances across modern awards more broadly. As the issues identified concern an ambiguity, error or uncertainty in modern awards, this matter has been commenced on the Commission’s own initiative to deal with each issue pursuant to s 160 of the Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth) (FW Act).

[3] This statement will first outline the requirements of modern awards in relation to the adjustment of wage-related allowances, then set out each of the issues, along with proposals to address them, in turn.

Method of adjusting wage-related allowances

[4] The requirement for a standardised method of adjustment of wage-related allowances in modern awards was initially outlined in the award modernisation request made on 16 June 2008 by the then Minister for Employment and Workplace Relations, which stated:

“27. The Commission is to ensure that all modern awards include an appropriate method or formula for automatically adjusting relevant allowances when minimum wage rates are adjusted.”⁴

[5] In response, the former Australian Industrial Relations Commission established a standard clause to deal with the adjustment of allowances. In a Decision of 19 December 2008, concerning the making of priority modern awards, the Full Bench stated:

“[74] The consolidated request requires the Commission to include an appropriate method or formula for automatically adjusting relevant allowances when minimum wages are adjusted. The exposure drafts included provisions which expressed allowances as a percentage of a standard rate. This would ensure that where the standard rate was altered allowances were adjusted accordingly. The draft provision applied to all allowances, including those that are expense-related. . .

[76] The method of adjusting wage-related allowances will be the one in the exposure drafts based on the concept of a fixed percentage of a standard rate. This method renders updating of wage-related allowances unnecessary.”⁵

[6] Section 149 of the FW Act provides for the automatic variation of allowances to coincide with a variation in modern award wages as follows:

149 Automatic variation of allowances

If a modern award includes allowances that the FWC considers are of a kind that should be varied when wage rates in the award are varied, the award must include terms providing for the automatic variation of those allowances when wage rates in the award are varied.

Allowance in the ACTPSE Award

[7] The following allowance in the ACTPSE Award has been identified as containing an error:

F.1.2 Overtime allowance

In place of the provision at subclause 16.7—Payment for overtime, a Correctional Officer grade 4 will be paid an allowance at the rate of 5,492 per annum in lieu of payment for overtime duty; such allowance to be adjusted in accordance with increases to wages based on a percentage of the standard rate as specified.

[8] This allowance has not been adjusted since the award commenced operation on 6 June 2016. The standard rate is defined in Schedule E of the award as follows:

standard rate means the minimum hourly pay rate for a General Service Officer level 5 in Table 3 of Schedule A [9] An error arises in the overtime allowance of the ACTPSE Award specified in clause F.1.2 in that it does not expressly provide for an automatic variation of the allowance because it does not provide that the allowance is a specified percentage of the standard rate. A further error arises because this has meant that there has been no adjustment to the allowance in consequence of the Annual Wage Review (AWR) in previous years. An ambiguity or uncertainty also arises as to how the allowance is to be adjusted where a flat dollar increase is applied to the standard rate in an AWR rather than a percentage increase although, on one view, clause F.1.2 might be read as requiring any such increase to be converted to a percentage of the standard rate and then applied to the allowance.

[10] If the allowance had been adjusted in accordance with increases to minimum wages based on the percentage movements in the standard rate for each AWR since the award commenced, the allowance would have increased to $6,756.15 in the Annual Wage Review—2021–22.⁶

[11] It is our provisional view that, in order to remove the error, ambiguity and uncertainty regarding the adjustment of the allowance in future years, a fixed percentage of 26683.06% of the standard rate should be inserted into the award by amending clause F.1.2 to provide as follows:

F.1.2 Overtime allowance

In place of the provision at subclause 16.7—Payment for overtime, a Correctional Officer grade 4 will be paid an allowance at the rate of $6756.15 per annum in lieu of payment for overtime duty. The amount of this allowance is 26683.06% of the standard rate and will automatically adjust to reflect this percentage when the standard rate is varied.

Other wage-related allowances in enterprise and State reference public sector awards

[12] A similar issue has been identified in relation to a number of other wage-related allowances contained in the ACTPSE Award. In these other cases, although the allowances have been adjusted by the same percentage increase applied to minimum wages at each AWR, the awards do not provide that the allowances are a specified percentage of the standard rate. As such, a potential error, ambiguity or uncertainty arises when award minimum wages are to be adjusted by a flat dollar amount and not a percentage.

[13] The same issue has been identified in the following enterprise and State reference public sector awards:

- Aboriginal Legal Rights Movement Award 2016;
- Australian Broadcasting Corporation Enterprise Award 2016;
- Airservices Australia Enterprise Award 2016;
- Health Professionals, Medical Scientists and Support Services (Victoria) State Reference Public Sector Award 2018;

- Nurses and Midwives (Victoria) State Reference Public Sector Award 2015;
- Reserve Bank of Australia Award 2016; and
- Metropolitan Newspapers (South Australia and Tasmania) Printing Award 2015.

[14] Each of the awards identified above do not provide fixed percentages of the standard rate as the method for the automatic adjustment of wage-related allowances. The application of a flat dollar increase to wage rates is therefore attended by uncertainty and potential error.

[15] Attachment A identifies the wage-related allowances at issue in both the ACTPSE Award and other enterprise and State reference public sector awards and sets out proposed amendments to remove the error or uncertainty. Each of the proposals inserts a fixed percentage to ensure an automatic adjustment of each allowance occurs when award minimum wages are adjusted. It is our provisional view that each of the awards identified should be varied in accordance with the proposals set out in Attachment A.

Standard wording providing how wage-related allowances are adjusted

[16] A broader concern has been identified in relation to the wording of a standard provision in modern awards which provides how wage-related allowances are adjusted. Most modern awards take a standard approach to wage-related allowances which can be summarised as follows:

- Wage-related allowances are specified as dollar amounts in the body of the award which are updated in each AWR.
- In a schedule of wage-related allowances these dollar amounts are said to be “based on the standard rate” and are specified as a percentage of the standard rate which is updated in each AWR.
- The schedule of wage-related allowances contains a standard provision which describes the adjustment of the allowance as follows:

Adjustment of wage-related allowances

Wage-related allowances are adjusted in accordance with increases to wages and are based on a percentage of the standard rate as specified.

[17] The description of wage-related allowances as “based on a percentage of the standard rate” may be said to be in error or give rise to ambiguity or uncertainty by obscuring the intention of the AIRC Full Bench and s 149 of the Act requiring modern awards to provide for the “automatic variation” of wage-related allowances whenever wage rates are varied. The standard approach to wage-related allowances can be understood as including the dollar amount of an allowance in the award as a matter of convenience to the reader, while the actual adjustment of the amount of the allowance (being a given percentage of the standard rate) occurs automatically when the standard rate is updated in accordance with an AWR.

[18] Commission staff have identified awards which contain the standard wording, or very similar wording, as to the method of adjusting wage-related allowances as is set out above. It is our provisional view that each of these awards be varied as follows in order to remedy the concern raised:

Automatic adjustment of wage-related allowances

The amount of each wage-related allowance is the percentage of the standard rate specified for the allowance and will automatically adjust to reflect this percentage when the standard rate is varied.

[19] Other awards have been identified as containing wage-related allowances but no provision setting out how they are to be adjusted. It is our provisional view that the revised standard wording set out above be inserted into each of these awards.⁷

Next steps

[20] As stated, this matter has been created on the Commission's own initiative under s 160(2)(a) of the Act. A new award variation webpage will be created to publish all documents related to this matter.

[21] A schedule of draft determinations to give effect to the provisional views expressed at paragraphs [11], [15], [18] and [19] will be published alongside this statement. Interested parties are invited to file submissions in response to the draft determinations by 4:00 pm (AEDT) on Tuesday, 28 February 2023.
